NJ Hearing Aid Programs
Hearing loss is more than a matter of increasing volume. Studies show that hearing loss increases loneliness, isolation and can mimic signs of dementia. In one recent study, The Direct and Indirect Effects of Hearing Loss on Loneliness in Older Adults, authors found "direct and indirect pathways through which hearing loss contributes to loneliness in older adults. Poor hearing exacerbates functional limitations, depression, and cognitive decline, all of which can further increase the risk of loneliness."

Fortunately, New Jersey has two programs to help residents afford hearing aids!

The Hearing Aid Assistance to the Aged and Disabled (HAAAD) program offers reimbursement for the purchase of hearing aids, for eligible residents age 65+. The New Jersey Hearing Aid Project offers free refurbished hearing aids for individuals that meet program eligibility. You can also see details at https://nj.gov/humanservices/ddhh/services/hearingaid/haaad/ or by calling 1-800-792-9745

Become a Disaster Response Crisis Counselor
New Jersey is one of the first states to certify its behavioral health first responders in preparation for response to disasters and traumatic events. The development of a cadre of paraprofessionals enhances the capability of activating a timely and effective behavioral health response. A Disaster Response Crisis Counselor is a volunteer who becomes part of an Emergency Response Network and responds to the needs of communities in the event that a disaster strikes. The counselors are trained in disaster response, disaster behavioral health and crisis counseling among other topics and they collaborate with the various response partners who participate in the statewide emergency response network. The counselor does not need to have a clinical background as the crisis counseling program does not provide traditional mental health services. The training will provide the technical support and knowledge needed to become a Disaster Response Crisis Counselor emphasizing psychological first aid and information and referral services.

Trualta is an extensive online library featuring caregiver training, articles of interest, support groups and chat rooms. It is accessible 24/7 from a person's phone, tablet or computer.
